SECRET

To whom it may concern,

I am in response to the movement in an attempt to attain rights for fathers in regards to equal access time with their children.

My situation at present in this regard is a lot better than most other men who live in the aftermath of separation. Even so, I live 70% of my life breathing through a straw waiting for time to turn around to when I get to see my little girls and they me.

There are many areas that need to be addressed in this very complex issue to find an answer. I believe equal access is a very good starting point. Providing that children are not inconvenienced in regards to education and have no objection to the situation I can only see it as a positive thing.

As a loving father I only hope and pray that this appeal to the Government and authorities for a father and his childrens rights to experience a wonderful period of life together does not fall on deaf ears.

Yours faithfully
