Subject: Voting submission

I was shocked to learn that my postal vote from overseas (or indeed apparently it would be the same wherever it was made) was totally ignored in counting in the election. I understand this is normal practice. It makes a travesty of voting at all by postal vote and this practice should cease. Considering the amount of time it took me to secure the postal vote and ensure it was lodged - I cannot see the point. It is ludicrous that any citizen should have their vote ignored and just makes a mockery of the democratic process.
