Dear Chairman ,I am concerned at the gradual but certain erosion of property rights. When such rights are taken for the "Public Good" then the public must expect to give a just compensation. As we are all citizens of the commonwealth I can not see why the states are not forced to conform to the same laws as the commonwealth. We are already victims of this situation and having the right to clear our land taken from us we have been offered 25% of the valuer general's valuation. T G Price
