Dear uranium pushers

The mafia in America were caught dumping drums of dioxin and other toxin in built up areas by driving around in tankers with the exit tap turned on to open in the seventies and eighties and it is probably on going as it is a covert activity.

How can you be sure that the Chinese are not dumping the waste from their reactors in rivers and oceans. They could easily be dumping it in the ocean. We in Australia can do without nuclear power. This government is not telling the people the truth. They have stacked the deck with this commission and all other research into the nuclear industry.

It is tantamount to using a marked deck of cards. They are profit mad and lazy unimaginative swine. If we force them to go organic renewable and sustainable energy now as they will have to inevitably anyway and why not start now before global warming finishes us all. I fear that these people in Canberra have conceded to doomsday.

While I see a new age with marijuana law reform, hemp forests and hemp industries they stick their heads in the sand of ignorance and denial. Wake up Australia we can be the bench mark and standard bearers for the rest of the world. We are already half way to a pacifist neutral republic. Why not go all the way?

We are poisoning the Great Artisan Basin that will be vital in the future to sell uranium that profits the share market jockeys. They are fools in Canberra because they don't care. They are interested in protecting their superannuation and not guaranteeing the water supply and water purity for the future. Just because you can't see radiation doesn't mean that it is not causing cancer.

Yours sincerely
