

Ms Anne Twomey

Ms Anne Twomey is a constitutional lawyer and historian. She is currently an Associate Professor and an Adjunct Senior Lecturer in Law at the University of Sydney and a Visiting Fellow at the University of New South Wales.

Anne has practised as a solicitor and is admitted to practice in New South Wales, Victoria, the ACT, and the High Court. She has had extensive practical experience in the application of constitutional law, having worked for the High Court of Australia as a Senior Research Officer, the Commonwealth Parliamentary Research Service as a researcher in the Law and Government Group, the Senate Legal and Constitutional Committee as Secretary, and The Cabinet Office of New South Wales as Policy Manager of the Legal Branch. She has acted as a consultant to various government bodies.

Anne has published widely in the area of constitutional law and public law generally. Her previous works include The Constitution of NSW (2004) and her next book will be on the Australia Acts 1986.