

Your Honour

Australian society is based on Christian values and this is what has allowed us to become the nation we are today and the envy of many nations across the world.

Immigrants are coming here, often looking for a promise of a better future for themselves and their children, They are leaving the countries of their birth because they do not have these things there or continued strife has forced them out.

By all means, encourage legal immigration, but not multiculturalism, which has not worked in many other countries as evidenced in parts of Europe. We can learn much from immigrants, and they from us, but Australia as a country must stand firm on her Christian heritage or we will no longer be the envy of other nations but a confused people with a declining way of life.

Yours sincerely
