Dear Sir,

Please accept this submission for the JSCEM's Inquiry into the 2007 Federal Election. ADD YOUR TEXT HERE All Australian of voting age whether in Australia or overseas should have the right to vote. There should be no time limit on their registered voting address or there should be a special address for expatriates to vote in each electorate and any expatriate voter can choose the electorate they wish to vote in. This would make all candidates woo the expatriate voter as these could control up to one million votes.
