

FYI

I am responding to an article that has mentioned that the whole area of multiculturalism is being discussed at present. My very brief view in this matter is that we here in Australia have become multinational as a country. This is because we now do not require immigrants to assimilate into our Australian way and values. Instead the values and ways of other cultures are being thrust on all Australians to change so as to not offend recent immigrants.

Regards

Encourageing Positive Energy in our Australian way