The Secretary of
JOINT STANDING COMMITTEE ON ELECTORAL MATTERS

Dear Sir!

I wish to submit my proposal for the change of the ruling how the "How to vote cards" are presented for the voting public.

- On the October 9 th. Federal election I noticed that in some Parties "How to vote cards", there were all candidates numbered from start to the finish, but there wasn't any mention for which party they belonged.
- We, the voters, are not always thinking same way as the Party leaders, whom we give the second, third etc. preferences but like do it with our own choosing. Therefore we need to know the Parties where the candidates belong.
- Now, The Australian Electoral Commission should demand that in all "How to vote cards" have both the candidate's name and party clearly indicated or think also, if we need any "How to vote cards" at all, because on the ballot paper there are all the information what we need for the voting.

Eero Laurila.
