8. QUORUM—COUNTING OF HOUSE—STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER.—Mr. Speaker said :—During the last sitting of the House, the honorable Member for Werriwa (Mr. Lazzarini) asked me to state, for the guidance of honorable Members, the practice I propose to adopt when my attention is directed to the state of the House, and, in doing so, he referred to the practice observed by previous presiding officers and Chairmen of Committees. As the closure was applied to the motion "That the House do now adjourn", I had to defer my reply until now. I do not intend to refer in any way to the rulings of Chairmen of Committees on this subject. The House has no knowledge of what happens in committee except such as is conveyed to it in resolutions reported from the committee. It would not be right for me to direct the Chairman of Committees as to his rulings, nor do I propose to do so. In the past, both as Speaker and Chairman of Committees, I have, with one exception, counted the number of honorable Members present upon my attention having been drawn to the state of the House or the committee. The one exception occurred on an occasion when I was Chairman of Committees. The number of Members present had been counted several times after the lapse of a very short period of time. I noticed that some Members were leaving the chamber immediately after a quorum was formed, returning again upon a further call being made. It seemed to me an attempt was being made not only to obstruct proceedings, for the honorable Member who was at the time addressing the committee was several times interrupted, but also to embarrass that honorable Member. I therefore declined to count the committee, and stated that I had satisfied myself within the preceding two minutes that a quorum was present. The honorable Member for Werriwa referred to the practice of presiding officers to allow a certain length of time to elapse after a call had been made for a quorum before again counting the House, thus following the practice of the House of Commons. I have not followed that practice, nor do I intend to do so. The honorable Member correctly cited the standing order dealing with this matter, and I agree that its intention is clear. He also referred to the relevant section of the Constitution on the subject. In cases similar to the one that I have mentioned where I refused to count the House, I propose to use my discretion. After attention had been called to the lack of a quorum I should not allow business to be transacted before assuring myself that a quorum is present. I do not propose to indicate that I shall allow any particular length of time to elapse before counting the number of Members present after my attention has previously been drawn to the state of the House.

9. SOLDIER SETTLEMENT LOANS (FINANCIAL AGREEMENT) BILL.—Mr. Casey (Acting Treasurer) moved, by leave, That he have leave to bring in a Bill for an Act to approve an agreement made between the Commonwealth of Australia of the First Part and the States of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, Western Australia and Tasmania of the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Parts respectively.

JOINT ADDRESS—ARRANGEMENTS FOR PRESENTATION.—Mr. Speaker informed the House that in company with the President of the Senate he waited on His Excellency the Governor-General and handed to him the Joint Address to His Majesty the King on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of His Accession to the Throne. His Excellency had made the following reply:—

“MR. PRESIDENT AND MR. SPEAKER,

This is not an ordinary occasion. In the special circumstances, seeing that the Prime Minister is at this moment in England in connexion with the King's Jubilee and representing the Government, the Parliament and the people of the Commonwealth, I suggest that it would be a more solemn and significant way of presenting the Address of Parliament to His Majesty if the Prime Minister handed it to the King himself.

If, on behalf of the Parliament, you agree to that course, I have no hesitation in supporting it, and in that event would leave the transmission of the Address to the Prime Minister in your hands.

(Sgd.) ISAAC A. ISAACS,
Governor-General.

Government House,
Canberra,
10th April, 1935.”

Mr. Speaker stated that he assumed that the suggestion of His Excellency that the Prime Minister should present the Address to His Majesty would meet with the concurrence of honorable Members, and he had agreed to the proposal and thanked His Excellency for the suggestion.
