

Australian Parliament
Joint Standing Committee on Migration
Submission no. 191

Dear to whom it may concern,

Regarding the upcoming federal inquiry into multiculturalism I think the important point to note is that whilst all people should be considered equal not all cultures can be considered as equal; some are better than others as far as preserving the human dignity of its members and the equality of its members and any inquiry should uphold the importance of preserving the Christian democratic values that underpin our Australian society today.