

01/10/99 15:04

In reference to the Inquiry into Human Cloning I wish to express my view that this is an extremely dangerous practice with huge ramifications for all mankind, and should be totally banned. We are all aware of the terrible consequences of Hitler's experiments in trying to interfere in the natural processes of procreation, and even if man were successful in human cloning, who can predict the long-term effects of this interference with the natural processes of life? Why don't we just concentrate our efforts on curing sickness and disease and helping the poor and needy? I believe that when we start venturing into the Cloning of Human Beings we are starting to try to "play God" and future generations may reap a terrible harvest from our meddling into these areas. I believe that God alone has the power to give life to mankind and that each person is a unique creation of God through the natural processes that he has created.

Mrs Robyn Hipkiss,
52 McEachern Cres,
Melba, ACT, 2615.