Topic: Red tape reduction

Senator Ludwig, Joe asked:

Since the change of Prime Minister on 14 September, 2015:

1. Please detail changes to structures, officials, offices, units, taskforce or other processes has the department dedicated to meeting the government's red tape reduction targets?
 - (a) What is the progress of that red tape reduction target.
2. How many officers have been placed in those units and at what level?
3. How have they been recruited?
4. What process was used for their appointment?
5. What is the total cost of this unit?
6. What is the estimated total salary cost of the officers assigned to the unit.
7. Do members of the unit have access to cabinet documents?
8. Please list the security classification and date the classification was issued for each officer, broken down by APS or SES level, in the red tape reduction unit or similar body.
9. What is the formal name given to this unit/taskforce/team/workgroup or agency within the department?

Answer:

1. Richard Bean (ACMA Acting Chairman) is the ACMA representative on the Communications portfolio deregulation working group, and is responsible for managing the ACMA response to the government's red tape reduction targets. There is no formal deregulation unit, with the work undertaken by each Division in the ACMA, working in conjunction with relevant areas in the Department to identify opportunities to reduce or remove unnecessary red tape.
 - (a) The communications portfolio has met its red tape reduction target, with the ACMA removing close to 1,397 pages of redundant regulation in the media and communications sector.
2. Staff across a number of areas of the ACMA contribute to red tape reduction-related activities along with their other usual activities.
3. No additional staff have been recruited to undertake deregulatory work in the ACMA.
4. Not applicable.
