The Fair Work Ombudsman's communications and media staff undertake the following duties:

- communications activities (digital and strategic)
- implementation of Government 2.0 including social media engagement

- preparation and dissemination of media materials to promote the services and work of the agency, to educate workplace participants and as a general deterrent to workplace breaches.
- respond to media enquiries
- staff employed as SES Band 1, EL2 and EL1 also manage staff.

The Fair Work Ombudsman does not have any media or communications staff engaged as contractors or graphic designers.

The Fair Work Ombudsman has one media manager.

No dedicated staff are tasked with organising events.
