Question:

Senator Cash: There actually is. Because the action plan is done in conjunction with COAG, it is something that all women's ministers have a look at. I believe we are currently in the process of getting their final sign-off of the implementation plan. Certainly we can brief you on it, if you like, but also once it is released we will ensure that you get a copy of the plan to date. We can probably also find a copy of the first report, on the first plan, for you so you can see the actual process it has gone through.

Answer:

The Progress Review Report of the First Action Plan, under the National Plan to Reduce Violence against Women and their Children 2010-2022, was released in May 2014.
