T4	ASIC	Sherry	Page 12 2/6/2004	Senator SHERRY—In Hobart Court last week he was found guilty of swindling $4.5 million. I would like to raise a couple of issues relating to this. Apparently the moneys that he swindled included superannuation moneys: are you able to give me more detail about the nature of the superannuation moneys? Ms Redfern—I cannot at this stage give you a breakdown of the extent to which there were superannuation moneys. I can take that one on notice. Senator SHERRY—Are you able to give me an idea? Were these moneys pre retirement moneys that the planner had taken from employees and then not put into retail superannuation products or do-it-yourself superannuation or were they post retirement rollover moneys? Ms Redfern—I do not have that detail; I will have to take that on notice.	Answer received 2/7/2004

T20	ACCC	Brandis	Page 7 3/6/04	CHAIR—This question is perhaps to Mr Cassidy. Can you bring us up to date on current litigation, please, under both part IV and part V? Since the last estimates hearings, how many cases have been instituted, how many have been discontinued, how many have been resolved and, in the case of those that have been resolved, what was the outcome? In relation to pending appeals to the full Federal Court and the High Court, can you bring us up to date on where cases in that category stand as well? Mr Cassidy—Given that that involves a reasonable amount of detail, that is probably a question we will need to take on notice. In a broad brush sense, we currently have 41 cases in court and we have just over 200 serious investigations on foot, but the	Answer received 9/8/04

In ATO dealings with Centrelink, do you have any understanding of the level of compliance problems associated with people claiming child-care benefit as well as salary sacrifice? Mr Carmody—I am sorry, I do not think we have any information here. Senator JACINTA COLLINS—You may need to take that on notice. Mr Carmody—We will take that on notice.
T91	Treasury	Collins	Page 68 3/6/04	Senator JACINTA COLLINS—Excluding the $600 family tax benefit supplement, how many families will have an increased rate of fortnightly payment as a result of the taper change? Mr Tune—I do not think I have that information for you. Senator JACINTA COLLINS—Would you take that on notice? Mr Tune—Certainly. Senator JACINTA COLLINS—What is the average fortnightly increase in family tax A that will occur as a result of the taper changes for family tax benefit A. Mr Tune—I will have to take that on notice also.	Answer received 23/2/05

T92	Treasury	Collins	Page 68 3/6/04	Senator JACINTA COLLINS—When was Centrelink advised that they would have to deliver this payment? Mr Tune—When was it announced in the budget? Senator JACINTA COLLINS—When was the implementation of this payment first raised with Centrelink? Mr Tune—In that period I was talking about. I think I have already answered that one, Senator. Senator JACINTA COLLINS—No, you have answered that it was written within a period of about four weeks. As it turns out, a period of about 12 weeks could end up being quite critical in the election process. Can you take on notice to provide the date on which implementation of the payment was first raised with Centrelink? Mr Tune—Yes.	Answer received 23/2/05
T93	Treasury	Collins	Page 71 3/6/04	Senator JACINTA COLLINS—Let me give you a cameo. I presume you will have to take it on notice. I have given FaCS the same cameo. Let us see if you reach the same concern. Is it not the case that a dual-income family with two children, one under five, on $23,000 per annum will experience an effective marginal tax rate of 93 per cent if a secondary income earner increases their earnings from $8,000 per annum—so that is the ratio of	Answer received 23/2/05

T94	Treasury	Collins	Page 67 3/6/04	Senator JACINTA COLLINS—These were not options being considered, at least to Treasury's knowledge, before then? Mr Tune—You asked about the work and family task force before. Some of those options had been considered along with many other options in the context of the work and family task force. That task force has not met during the course of 2004 so there was a discrete break in the process. Senator JACINTA COLLINS—But earlier than that, this was one of the options that they were contemplating? Mr Tune—I think it was. I cannot recall specifically. Senator JACINTA COLLINS—Could you check for me? Mr Tune—I cannot confirm or deny what was in a document that went to cabinet. Senator JACINTA COLLINS—No, but you can check your recollection of evidence that you have put before this committee. You said that you did not	Answer received 23/2/05

If it is going to material that was then put before the government as a confidential matter I would not be able to divulge that. CHAIR—Take that question on notice and if, having refreshed your memory, you consider that you should take that objection, then you can take that objection in your written response. Mr Tune—Certainly.
T95	Treasury	Collins	Page 73-74 3/6/04	Senator JACINTA COLLINS—Chair, the question was: when was the decision made that Treasury should not answer any question other than where the information is printed in the budget papers?
