Question: Bud 21

Topic: ACCC – Voluntary Codes of Conduct – Draft Regulations

Hansard Page: E35

Senator Webber asked:

As I understand it, there was a public briefing in February. How many organisations attended that?

Mr Ridgway—I might have to take the question on notice with respect to the exact number. As I recall, there were 20 or more representatives, both of industry and on the consumer movement side, represented around the country.

Mr Antich—We can certainly get that number, Senator Webber.

Answer:

There were 25 organisations that attended the ACCC's roundtable briefing on its codes endorsement proposal.
