QUESTION No.SBI-70

Senator Campbell asked:

Given that there was a comprehensive benefit-cost analysis for the Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) made public for consultation about the draft DDA Access to Premises Standard in January 2004, why has there been a need for “additional analysis and research on the Premises Standard”?

ANSWER

The RIS that was made public for consultation was associated with the January 2004 draft Premises Standard that was sent out by the ABCB for public comment. The additional analysis and research that is being undertaken is in relation to the Board’s preliminary advice to Ministers.
