SR-5	Ronaldson	DRET	23/10/2008	Senator RONALDSON —Minister, will you be making a statement in relation to the likely outcome for the tourism industry now that you have had this advice?	E92	05/12/2008	08/12/2008
				Senator Carr —I think I should correct you. I am here representing the minister.
				Senator RONALDSON —Will the government be making a statement to the tourism industry?
				Senator Carr—I will take that on notice.
				Senator RONALDSON —Given that there has been advice—and there are positives, which is obviously good news—that there are negatives, is it not reasonable for the industry to be aware of the expert advice that the government has been given in relation to this matter?
				Senator Carr —I will take that matter on notice and discuss the matter with the minister.

				Ms Rose—Three hundred and thirty-three.
				Senator BUSHBY—So it has gone up?
				Ms Rose—Yes.
				Senator BUSHBY —Are you able to break down areas within the department, such as the tourism, the bit that looks at energy, and so on, and do a comparison? How many are there in each of those areas within the department?

				Senator BUSHBY—I understand and appreciate that.
				Dr Boxall —Just to be clear: you would like us to give the breakdown between the different divisions at this point compared with 12 months ago?
				Senator BUSHBY—Yes, that is exactly right. Well said.

				Ms Madden —It is $4.5 million this year, 2008-09.
				Senator RONALDSON —How much is that a reduction from 2007-08?
				Ms Madden —I am just trying to establish whether we have the previous year's figure here. Can I suggest that we provide this on notice?
				Senator RONALDSON —Just to double-check, the 2008-09 funding was $4.5 million in set-up; is that right?
				Ms Madden —I will reconfirm that in our question on notice, including the previous year's allocation.
				Ms Madden—What I can advise is that in the 2008-09 budget, as you have noted, the government did announce some saving measures from the Australian Tourism Development Program. I can confirm that the full year's funding for this year, 2008-09, is actually $6.45 million. Over the next total three years the ATDP is $14.332 million. There is a redesign underway at present of the ATDP criteria to ensure that the money is spent as effectively and efficiently as possible, and that consideration was perhaps part of the government's consideration in reducing this year's allocation to ATDP. 				Zealand, the United States and the UK?	3
				Mr Buckley—I might take all of the detail on notice and provide you with a breakdown by market. We spend approximately $40 million in that particular brand campaign process, but we have a number of other parallel projects as well. The markets are primarily in what we call tier 1 markets, which are our major seven key markets—the UK, the United States, Japan, New Zealand, China, Korea and Australia.
				Mr Buckley—We are seeing the operators within Australia begin to understand and adapt their experiences to target those markets. We run trade events and roadshows and sales forums in China and India. We are seeing more and more of our operators come on those and really work those markets very hard.
				Senator RONALDSON —Did you say you were going to take on notice information about which countries and the spend in each country?
				Mr Buckley —Yes, the breakdown of the spend for our new destination campaign, I think was the question, and in what markets we will allocate that spend.

				Mr Buckley—Approximately $40 million.

				notice and get you the exact figure. One of the challenges that we have is that that process of spend is very much determined around partnerships and cooperative marketing. Those are still being put in place right now. As we have launched a new campaign we then approach partners and they will often cofund with us. Our spend actually does shift and change depending on the partnerships being developed. We are in the process of developing those right now.
				Senator RONALDSON —Could you provide me with a breakdown of the remaining $7 million as to where it is going to be spent?
				Mr Buckley—Yes.

				Senator JOHNSTON —Excuse me, the 65 better sites you have identified. What proportion of those are actual drill data where you have got the actual below 800 metres sample in your drill tray?
				Dr Foster —I would say all of those sites had drill material at least some reference point.
				Senator JOHNSTON —So the correlation is very, very high, almost 100 per cent, between actual drill data and your 65 sites?
				Dr Foster —Let me stress again that these are regional studies.

Q No.	Senator	Agency	Hearing date	Question	Proof Hansard Page	Date answered	Date sent to Senator	Additional Information
				These are not site specific to say, 'The point is here.' So the issue is, does the basin at a particular area have the capacity, does it have those attributes that we talked about—seal, structural integrity and so on. The real issue about when you are getting down to CCS in terms of injecting it is actually quite detailed and would require more detailed study.
				Senator JOHNSTON —All right. So we have 65 more prospective sites?
				Dr Foster—Yes.  Senator JOHNSTON—Can you tell me, and I hate to ask you this, what is the distribution, state by state? Obviously some states are going to have a little bit more carbon than others that they want to inject.
				Dr Foster —Senator, I think perhaps it is best to take that on notice where we could provide you with a list of those forms.
				Senator JOHNSTON—All right.

				Dr James Johnson —From the perspective of mineral exploration, it is almost a case of you can never have too much data. But, as with many things, you do the best job you can with the data available. My colleague Dr Schneider is more familiar with the various, different satellite methods, perhaps less so the application to mineral exploration. He might be able to speak more to the issue of satellite data coverage of Australia if that is what you are interested in.
				Senator EGGLESTON—I am interested in whether you feel you could usefully use more satellite based technology to enhance your work and whether or not the fact that you do not do that is a budget issue to some degree? Or are you
