Question

Project Code Monitoring Groups

Do the project code monitoring groups work on particular projects?

Answer

Project Code Monitoring Groups (PCMGs) were established in Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria and Western Australia to assist with major infrastructure projects under the AusLink 1 road funding programme administered by the then Department of Transport and Regional Services. Auslink PCMGs considered broad programme issues and also considered various individual Auslink project issues on an as required basis.

A PCMG was also established for the Headquarters Joint Operations Command (HQJOC) project near Bungendore New South Wales administered by the Department of Defence.
