Senator NASH:...With regard to the National Plan for School Improvement forum, which I understand was early November last year, where questions could be submitted online— Ms Paul: There have been a number of them. Senator NASH: How many of them have there been? Mr Cook: We would have to take that on notice between the last estimates and this estimates. Senator NASH: If you could do that. Mr Cook: In our last answer to you we said that there were 21 National Plan for School Improvement forums held between 1 September and 14 November. We will have to provide you with updated information since that time.
