Answer

The Department of Employment provides electronic equipment in line with the DOF Ministerial Entitlements Handbook. Other than phone, iPads and computers, the department has issued data cards, remote access tokens, integrated printer/fax/scanners, televisions, label printers and video conference equipment to the Ministers' premises in Parliament House, Hobart, Sydney and Coffs Harbour. The items have come from various sources including new purchases or the department's used stocks. The department and the Ministers' offices worked together to determine equipment allocations.
