Senator Boyce asked on Monday 2 June, DEWR Hansard Page 69

Question

Can you say how many projects are currently under construction that are, or have been, subject to code – maybe this financial year?

Answer

The Department does not maintain comprehensive data on the number of construction projects underway in Australia at any point in time. Nor does it have data on the number of directly or indirectly funded projects which are subject to the Code at any point in time. Agencies are responsible for monitoring projects for which they provide funding.
