Question No. 29

Senator Crossin asked the following question at the hearing on 14 February 2006:

Did the consultants actually gather the parties to meet them at a particular location or did they physically get around and go to the organisations' headquarters?

The answer to the honourable senator's question is as follows:

The consultants met with parties in person or by teleconference.

In some cases the consultants met with parties at a central location. At other times, the consultants met with parties at the party's premises.

A number of parties agreed to meet jointly with the consultants, either at the premises of one party or at a central location.
