

SENATE STANDING COMMITTEE ON LEGAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL AFFAIRS
CRIMTRAC

Question No. 107

Senator McKenzie asked the following question at the hearing on 14 February 2012:

Do you have a flag for internet predators? Are there plans to develop one?

The answer to the honourable senator's question is as follows:

The National Police Reference Services (NPRS) maintained by CrimTrac contain records of convictions for all offence types. The NPRS does not have a flag for internet predators that attaches to those records. There is currently no mandate from the CrimTrac Board of Management to develop this capability within the NPRS.
