Dear Practice Manager,

Re: Pregnancy Counselling Australia Posters

Enclosed is a sample of the advertising fliers we have recently produced for Doctors' Rooms, Health Centres, etc. advertising the services of Pregnancy Counselling Australia, a free and confidential 24-hour telephone advice service for pregnant women. We are requesting that you please consider displaying these posters in the waiting room and/or consulting suites of your Centre.

Pregnancy Counselling Australia is a community service of trained pregnancy crisis counsellors whose work is to listen to women in pregnancy related crisis. There is a real need in the community for a 24 hour Helpline for women and even men, for whom pregnancy causes a crisis. We recognise that there are limits to the counselling time and practical help you can give your clients. We are trained to carry out our work in a professional, caring and sympathetic manner. It is our experience that simply a sympathetic ear, along with the offer of some practical help, can often calm a woman and help her view her future in a positive way. By listening to women in such crises we are able to hear their fears, and depending on the nature of them, meet their needs within the services of Pregnancy Counselling Australia.

Should you wish to know more of Pregnancy Counselling Australia and its services, please feel free to contact us.
