

This is something I am very passionate about as a consumer. I feel I should have the right to make choices on what I am buying. I do not want to contribute to the destruction of the habitat of orangutangs or any other threatened species when I know there are other ways of managing these things.

I call on the government to stand up and make the labelling of palm oil mandatory on all goods.

Yours sincerely

Donna Carrington