

The name of the bill Food Standards Amendment (Truth in Labelling –Palm Oil) Bill 2009

My interest in this issue is purely personal and I write in support of this amendment, and strongly hope you consider this bill. Sure we can be stones and sourly declare that the economy will not benefit, but if you take a moment to look into the face of an orangutan, not a picture or video, but the real live creature itself- ( a simple reminder they're 'real') then see if you can tell us that what you're doing is okay. Because really its not, and last I heard, people don't like to be lied to.
