

Dear Sir

I recently wrote to you regarding the fact that those claiming the aged pension, hold a concession card entitling them to many concessions.

I am a woman 72 years of age and have paid taxes all my working life- a total of 30 years, plus all my retirement years and am still paying tax. During my working years, unlike my compatriots, I saved for my retirement, instead of taking the yearly overseas trips that they did. They all now claim the aged pension. They also get many concessions with the pension card. I get none!

I should be entitled to these concessions too.

I've earned them.

THEY SHOULD NOT BE MEANS TESTED
EITHER. EVERYONE SHOULD BE REWARDED
FOR WHAT THEY HAVE CLEARLY EARNED AT AGE 70 OR 75!

What incentive have people like me, been offered for saving to pay our own way?

Margaret Edward

7/6/07

Dear Sir,

Seeing that new age pension limits are to be brought in in Sept. ,and that entitlement to receive the Seniors health card has not been increased since the time it was brought in, I consider it paramount that the entitlement to receive this card should be increased also. I am requesting that you seriously consider this need.

Thank you.

Mrs Margaret Howard