

Due to the number of injuries caused to international visitors who fell on the lethal beachfront cattle grid at Eurong, while going to watch sunrise,

The Happy Valley grid, installed during a storm of negative publicity and public and residential opposition, was filled with sand dug from the world heritage beach - so no one would fall in.

All of these works were unnecessary and have contributed to EPA/QPW deliberate cumulative degradation of world heritage values.

