

I would like to object to the means testing of the $8000 grant for solar power. We must harness the sun in Qld especially. We must do as much as we can to reduce carbon emissions from electricity production.

Let's face it , the only people who can afford such an outlay are those earning reasonable money. Perhaps those earning over $100,000 need put in $10 or 20,000 of their own to qualify but let's not lose their interest entirely. Let's not lose all those willing at the moment to do their bit to help with climate change.

I was lucky enough to have my order processed just before the change of policy so I will go ahead and would have tried to convince many friends and family to do the same. Please, let's make that possible.
