

I would like to express my deep concern for the lack of government help in our attempt to combat climate change!

Our Company Renewablelogic had put out a low profile Expression of Interest in May this year to come up with solutions to assist the general public as a group of people waiting to do something about climate control.

We had an overwhelming response from people wanting solar on these business and personal residence - the 1st EOI raised in excess of 5000 people.

Unfortunately after the Govt budget new means tested rebate parameters eliminated approx 75% of people who wanted to do something about climate change who now simply can not afford to so! They have all expressed their total disgust at the Govt after most of them voted them in on their environmental policies which now appear to be only used to get them voted in and now they are watering them down.

Our society needs to be united on the climate change issue and do everything in our power to live more sustainable for the future of the planet and our children. The Govt needs to take ACTION on ALL fronts such as other proactive governments around the world such as Germany, Spain etc have done if they are serious about the future of our country and planet.

I implore the Govt to firstly reverse the means test on the solar PVRP rebate and then continue to look at what they are really doing about climate change.

Regards,
Brett Easton
Managing Director