I just thought it is useful to look at examples of media coverage. See attached.

- Story one re women's tennis
... walk off all red-eyed and emotional

Forged red roses and romance

Vaidisova, a blonde, tall and photogenic player on the verge of genuine flashbulb tennis stardom

- Below, story two

No where does it describe either player as being blonde / brunette, being short or tall, being photogenic or non photogenic, being red-eyed or not red-eyed, being a flashbulb tennis player etc. This absolutely typifies the problem with media representation of women's sport!!
