

To whom it may concern

Solar Credits are killing an industry! The government is putting forth the climate change bill and inside that is the new scheme for a RECS multiplier for solar credits. The whole bill is too much for the government to swallow and so the solar credits is just being shot down because of everything else that no one can agree on. I am just a young sales worker in the solar industry that might be out of a job because; if the government does not pass the solar RECS Multiplier I will not have work in the solar industry. The solar industry is at a standstill until AUGUST 15th sitting of house. You can only send in petition letters until the 24th of JULY. So the more people petition the better we might have a chance of passing solar credits. I have been trying to get people to write but it is hard to get people on board of something they don't understand that well. We also sell solar hot water and every day we get people in who want a free ($100-500) hot water from Anna Bli so every day we say thanks Anna Bli for losing us another customer. We sell Quality long lasting products, not something that will fall apart in 3 years. To the company that got the Hot water contract only because it's the cheapest, it is saving some energy not the Maximum available. To those people we say don't throw away a $1600.00 Rebate on something cheap and nasty use it on something good that will last. And support local jobs spreading the monies across the community. We need help to save the solar industry if it does not pass this AUGUST then it will be march next year and my job might not last that long. NO SUN IS SHINING ON THE SOLAR INDUSTRY! Please check out the Greenbank's website for info on RECS.

Sincerely

Sun downer Shane
