Senator Judith Troeth,

I have recently become aware of the proposed waste dump in the Northern Territory, it concerns me that the federal government has turned it's back on it's assurance to the Northern Territory that no nuclear waste dump would be imposed. I understand that there has been little to no consultation with the local community or the traditional owners. How could such a thing happen in a democratic society? I really hope that action will be taken to reassess the situation, I think the community deserves at least that considering what is at stake

Regards,

Michael Cavanagh
