Subject: Inquiry into Commonwealth Radioactive Waste Management Bill 2005

To the Senate,

I am writing in relation to the inquiry about the proposed radioactive dump in the Northern Territory. I feel that this goes directly against democratic ideals, considering the Federal Government has in the past given assurance this would not happen and now railroading the State Government and Local Councils who don't want the radioactive waste dump in their local community. There has not been no consultation with local councils about the movement of radioactive waste through their communities. If this set a precedent what chance do we have for a democracy. I appeal to the senate to extend the inquiry to take the time for a thorough investigation into the effects of this Bill and to go to the Northern Territory to speak with State Government and effected Local Councils and to reject the Bill. Radioactive waste is poisonous for a lot of generations not just ours and sadly accidents do happen. Who would want their children to inherit poison country.

Yours Sincerely,

Darren Turner
