The Standing Committee on Finance, Public Administration
Parliament House
Canberra ACT 2600

Dear Sir,

I am writing to you to submit that the holding of a plebiscite in respect of proposed change in the constitution by the government would be inappropriate.

Such a plebiscite, whether it brought a majority vote for a republic or not, would imply disapproval of the present method of government and question its present form. It would weaken the political standing of the government and constitution.

I therefore strongly submit that such a plebiscite should not be held.

Yours faithfully,
Peter Harvey Sutton
