

To whom it may concern,

I find the Intellectual Property part of the Free Trade Agreement, especially the DMCA type laws extremelly concerninng to me and many of my friends and co-workers. I have taken a lot of notice to the effects of the DMCA in America, and I find that it has only stifled research and development and boosted the power of monopolies. Introducing similar laws in Australia would be a step backwards in our fair country, and our economy and legal issues would feel the worst side affects of such laws. Intellectual Property laws are not something to be taken lightly.

Yours Sincerely,
