as listed on page 27 of the discussion paper,

with additions to:

Qualifications - to include

1. and who has forsworn any allegiance, obedience, or adherence to a foreign power,
2. has been a permanent continual resident in Australia for at least 10 years,
3. is not a member of a political party prior to, nor during holding office.

In regard to mention on page 14 - Discussion Paper - ' Not Addressed USA System'.

The USA system has very little to do with true democracy and the determination of the wishes of its mass population.

It is all about who has the most dollars to throw at an 'election' system which is based upon razz-a-matazz, and whipped up public mass hysteria by a few power crazed individuals who have little regard for anything except themselves and further enrichment of their personal/corporate fortunes.

More so when its 'elected' president can plunge that nation into a war which has not been condoned by the USA Congress, nor the United Nations processes.

This system should be left to USA.

Definately should not ever be considered for the citizens of Australia and its sovereignty.
