

Sent: Wednesday, 4 July 2007 1:21 PM

To: Legal and Constitutional, Committee (SEN)

Subject: Citizenship Test Submission

In view of the multicultural debacle the 3 major parties have got Australia into over the last 40 years the time has come for a much harsher approach to immigration requirements and just who we want to let into our country. One of the strict controls that can be implemented to screen immigrants is the proposed citizenship test. This test should include the following --

- 1/ the first test should be carried out in overseas Australian embassies by Australians qualified to carry out cheat proof examination of the potential immigrant.
- 2/ the test must require proof of the ability to both read and speak legible and clearly understandable written English, respectively, and a basic understanding of mathematics.
- 3/ it should require more than a basic understanding of Australian history since British settlement (including our participation in the major wars since 1900) a strong understanding of Australian culture, mateship, dress, love of sport, work ethic, our love of freedom, womens and children's rights, the rule of law, our overriding democratic government, our Christian heritage based society, our honesty and openness.
- 4/ the test must clearly prove they understand that our democratically elected governments override the power of their religion in running our country and any of their cultural practises that in Australia are illegal.
- 5/ the test must clearly show that in a national emergency they could be called on to fight for our country.
- 6/ the test must make clear that they understand that in everyday life they are expected to dress and act like other Australians and that their cultural and religious practises and dress must be restricted either to private, ceremonial or religious occasions.
- 7/ the test must clearly convey that we will not change our work practises, dress or work hours to fit into their cultural practises and religious timetable.
- 8/ the test must include a mandatory test statement of loyalty (which is clearly understood) to Auatralia ahead of the country they wish to emmigrate from (while it goes without saying they can maintain pride in their roots - just as we all do). Some of my German grandfather's sons chose to fight against the Germans because they believed it was the right thing to to do and that they were Australians first.
- 9/ the test makes them declare they understand that if and when they become an Australian citizen they have to live by Australia's laws first and foremost, ahead of the rules and laws they currently live by.
- 10/ the test must make clear that people passing the test and accepting to live under what is required to be elligible to be accepted as a potential immigrant will forego that right if they don't live by their undertaking which must include a commitment to totally assimilate.
- 11/ the test must make the applicants acknowledge that if they pass and are lucky enough to be then accepted if they don't adhere to their undertakings they made to be eligible to become an immigrant to Australia, they will be disenfranchised and probably deported along with the rest of their immediate family.
- 12/ Upon entering Australia all winning applicants must do a check citizenship test, carried out (by the Immigration Department), to ensure the first test pass was bonafide.

The citizenship test must include priority being given to young people (less than 35 - particularly males) with special skills, training or trade (not hairdressing or cheffing) of genuine current and long term industry need.

Applicants over 35 must have special superior or rare skills or large assets (A$10 million plus), to be permanently transferred, to be eligible to apply for the test.

People over 55 should not be eligible to apply except on the previous condition basis.

The annual intake of non-Muslim black African refugees must be reduced to 5,000 and they must be expected to pass all the test criterion even if some short term dispensations are allowed.

90% of all immigrants allowed in must be of white European or British or North American origin.

The conditions for being allowed to emigrate to Australia should include the understood right of Australia to repatriate dysfunctional, nonassimilating immigrants back to their country of origin for up to the third generation.

In view of what has happened and is happening around the world in the last 30 years there should be a ban on allowing Muslims into the Australia - from whatever country - no exceptions - whether this is a stated or unstated ban. Stated bans are less likely to be got around by corrupt or pliable politicians and officials.

The private immigration industry should be shut down and all dealings should be directly with the Immigration Department.

No one gets tested unless they pass all the selection criteria.

Passing the test only makes the person eligible to be considered as a potential applicant to immigrate to Australia.

All future immigrants will have to wait a minimum of 10 years to be naturalised and gain voting rights. This 10 years will be considered an initial minimum probationary period.

Priority must be given to global warming displaced Pacific islanders in allocating eligibility to be tested in the non-white group seeking to immigrate.

All applicants must pass rigid health checks - including AIDS. Australia should not have to carry the cost of health care for new unhealthy immigrants.

All eligible applicants must have no history of serious crime or links to serious crime or history of repeat crime offending. Any subsequent to immigration discovery of such history or association could result in disenfranchisement and deportation of that person and their immediate family.

Disenfranchisement, at the least, includes the loss of all public benefits and the right to vote (if eligible).

There should be no publicly funded legal help for illegal immigrants applying for citizenship.

Now this all might seem hard, but for years Australia has been sold out by naive, weak, treacherous or corrupt politicians and public servants - no one comes to mind more than Gough Whitlam, Malcolm Fraser, ex-Senator Bulcus, Al Grassby, Paul Keating and a lot of senior public servants to name a few, on the immigration sellout. Even John Howard has let Australia down, in spite of all his talk. It is time to say enough is enough and if you people can't see the gravity of the situation and handle it you shouldn't have the position you have - you may be some of the people who helped create the current serious problem Australia is faced with.

It is time to say No, No, No, not you, not you, not you, yes you are eligible, but you are only on probation.

It is time an Australian Government got immigration policy and its proposed censorship test right.

Australia for Australians