

Dear Senate Inquiry - Shared Parental Responsibility Bill 2005

This is a my submission to the Senate Inquiry into the provisions of the Family Law Amendment (Shared Parental Responsibility) Bill 2005

Discrimination and sexism is something I had never encountered in this country until my ex wife decided to end our marriage. It seems now as soon as I am not in a marriage I am not to be trusted with my children.

The hysteria being stirred up by some of these feminist sexist groups may have some merit, but only in a small number of cases, but this blanket comment and lobbying is only going to damage any possibility of addressing these cases. It is hysteria, raving unreasonable malice.

Address the problem of that small group concerned. Don't tarnish all those good fathers parents because of it. We have had an enquiry that has identified a real problem now lets sort out that problem on its merits, not on the raving protests of those whom do not even understand what it is all about.

These people seem to live on the principle"

Two warning shots to the back of the head.

The best interest of children is to have parents whom love and nurture them, not a single parent whom thinks they own them.

Thank you for reading my submission
