Street violence is an activity associate with Islamic and black terror, as we have been seeing in France over the past week. Anti terror forces should arrest and intern these rioters. It would be constitutionally lawful [under the race power; section 51 XXVI of the 1901 Australian constitution after the 1967 referendum, which allows the making of laws which discriminate on the basis of any race] for the Australian government to legislate to allow racial profiling as a pointer to locating terrorists which are overwhelmingly incited by Islamic and black culture, and as they reject integration have them relocated to a like minded community for their welfare apart from fair and Christian Australians.
