

Dear Sir/Madam,

I would like to express my view that the definition of marriage should be restricted to being a union between a man and a woman. I believe that extending the definition of marriage to include people of the same gender could have the potential to undermine the stability of our society and is therefore undesirable. Historically, marriage has been a union between people of opposite genders, and to change the definition in the way proposed would constitute a potentially dangerous experiment in social engineering.

Kind regards,
