

Friday, 28 August 2009

Senate Inquiry
Marriage Equality

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to make a submission to the Marriage Equality Senate Inquiry.

I believe that it is important that marriage is allowed for same sex partnerships. I feel it is fair that people in same sex relationships have the same entitlements in society that other people have. It is important that same sex partnerships are recognised by society and law if partners both desire this.

I feel it is also important that same sex partnerships have the same status as other relationships in society to ensure that people in same sex partnerships are not discriminated against and denigrated in society.

Yours sincerely,