

The Secretary,
Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee,
Parliament House,
Canberra.
ACT 2600.

8th August, 2009.

Dear Sir/Madam,

With regard to the Marriage Equality Bill being brought before Parliament in the near future I am most concerned that marriage as defined between a man and a woman, may be changed.

For thousands of years the institution of marriage has been the foundation of society and is the best basis for rearing children. Research has proved that children develop best in all major areas when brought up in a stable marriage with parents who are male and female. To tamper with this would be totally detrimental to society.

Please reject the Marriage Equality Bill.

Yours,
