

To the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

We oppose the Marriage Equality Bill 2009 because the institution of marriage, as designed by God between a man and a woman, is solid, secure and safe. It is the union between one man and one woman in a respectful, loving, careing relationship which is the base of a secure family unit for the birth, training and development of children in accord with the plan of our Creator.

1. Solid; because this first and oldest institution in the history of mankind is ordained by Almighty God and He Himself performed the very first marriage, and set the example for us to follow to protect and love children with a father and a mother leading the family.
2. Secure; because this all-important union brings together the law of our land and the love of our Lord. We will be called to account for our deeds and attitudes eventually, and are charged with the training of children towards their loving relationship with God. Any violation of God's male and female parental make up of a family unit violates this law.
3. Safe; Because this holy invention is God's idea and thus it will stand the test of time and succeed over the trends of life.

As a Government, our representatives are charged with the responsibility of just, honest and true leadership under the laws and standards set by God through His Word and Commandments and the Constitution of Australia. This established Australia as a Nation under God's ordinances and as our National Anthem's third verse states - guided by God's Son - Jesus Christ.

Thus we do not want any Satanic sponsored attempts which attack the family unit to be included in our charter of life and country. As our elected representatives we require you to uphold the founding principles and standards which were used to establish our nation and constitution.
