

To the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee

I oppose the Marriage Equality Bill 2009 because it would completely change the meaning marriage has had throughout history. Marriage between a man and a woman is vital for raising children, who need both a mum and a dad.

I oppose the Marriage Equality Bill 2009 because the institution of marriage, as designed by God between a man and a woman, is solid, secure and safe.

1.Solid; because this first and oldest institution in the history of mankind is ordained by Almighty God and He Himself performed the very first marriage.

2.Secure; because this all-important union brings together the law of our land and the love of our Lord.

3.Safe; Because this holy invention is God's idea and thus it will stand the test of time and succeed over the trends of life.

Please register my strongest opposition to the bill before the Senate proposing same sex marriage.

Yours sincerely,
John Chua
