

My complaint concerning CASA is small considering the experiences of others voicing their concerns to this inquiry however it has been going on a long time with CASA failing to address the issue. I'm not sure that it is applicable to the current inquiry however no result has been achieved despite various politicians, public servants, ombudsmen etc being involved.

It concerns the fabrication of "incidents" by a Chief Pilot and the corrupt assistance of CASA during this fabrication. This action followed my reporting of the Chief Pilot's encouragement of minima busting. I was subsequently dismissed. Reinstatement by the AIRC then followed with a damning report from the AIRC. CASA remained inactive despite criminal activity (in my opinion) by the Chief Pilot and others.

My current complaint is that these fabricated "incidents" are recorded permanently in my Pilot Records. Persons privy to that material have informed Jetstar of that content during reference checking of my employment application in 2005. Subsequently I was not offered a position. CASA remains unconcerned of the accuracy or privacy of personal information its legislation requires. I have requested the removal of fabricated material with no result.

Michael Reidy