

I am against importing meat into Australia as no one knows what chemicals are used on cattle, what is put into the soil and what diseases are being brought into Australia. We have NLIS policy in place and imported meat will have no traceability. Also cattlemen are finding it hard to meet financial commitments and having imported meat to compete with would make life more difficult.

RON and COLLEEN DEAN