

To whom this may concern

As a parent of an 18 yr. who has gain a position at uni. and has decided to defer for a year and then be advised that it may be wasted because someone decided to amend a benefit with out considering the effects of those who have made this decision reflects poorly on decision makers.

I ask that those currently deferred for this current year be allowed to access this benefit.

This proposed alteration that has had a significant inpact on the family as she could have gone to uni. and not wasted a year towards the completion of here course.

The students can only defer for one year,so how can this ammendment benefit her?

Regards

Tim Mengler